UNDERSTAND THE PROCESS

A home remodel, especially a kitchen, can be overwhelming. That's why we're here to help. It's good to have a general understanding of the entire kitchen remodel process before you begin. There are four primary phases:

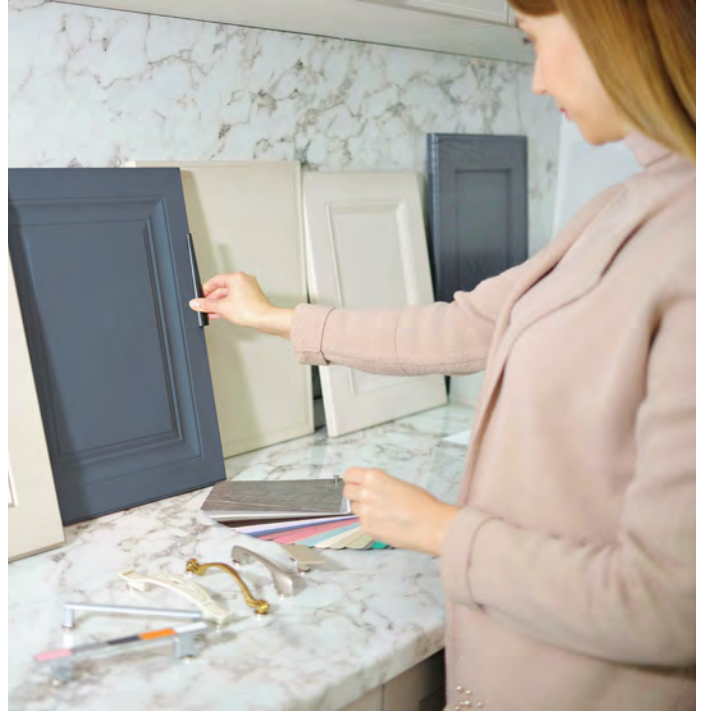

PLAN

Establish a budget, set goals, take measurements of your space and determine the scale of your project.

Thinking through your entire project at this early stage can save you time and money in the long run.

This is a good time to start gathering ideas and pictures that inspire you.

DESIGN

Meet with a designer to refine your style choices, coordinate colors, and select the right storage options for you.

It is important to also explore flooring, appliances, countertops and other room essentials at this stage.

This is the time to ensure the look and function of your space is as desired.

Whether you're just getting started or already well on your way, we can provide guidance for what comes next, until there is nothing left to do, but enjoy your new space.

ORDER

Confident with your selections, it's time to place orders. Cabinets, flooring, appliances and other large items require different times to build and manufacture. Keep track of each item and the expected delivery dates.

This is a great time to pack up dishes, donate unwanted items and arrange a temporary kitchen.

INSTALL

Demolish and remove the old kitchen. Ensure there is a large space for the delivery of your new cabinets. Once your cabinets arrive; inspect them for any shipping damages—it's best to catch these early and order replacements if needed.

Installation commences. This is where all your hard work comes together—and you will soon enjoy a new kitchen!

BOARDWALK

EASY START

Boardwalk Cherry

Ease the hurried morning rush with a beautiful and spacious Boardwalk kitchen. Careful planning and smart cabinetry selections keep multiple cooks and young ones from bumping into one another for a smooth start to each day.

A PERSONALIZED SPACE

Schuler cabinets are built to fit your home and lifestyle. We offer custom options so that your space is one-of-a-kind — and because they're built at the factory, we save you time and money on installation. This before and after image is a perfect example of the custom capabilities available from Schuler.

1 Increasing the height of these cabinets allows for a separate seating area.

2 Changing the wall cabinets to a stacked configuration provides a more custom look.

3 Enhancing the island end to open cabinets with glass shelves and decorative x-mullion allows for contrast and practical storage.

4 Upgrading drawer fronts from slab to five piece and selecting deluxe ends instantly upscales the look.

5 A standard utility cabinet becomes much more personalized with a wine x-cabinet and large drawers for storage.

5

6 Adding floating shelves between cabinets adds a unique look, especially with a wainscot back for added texture.

7 Glass inserts offer a place to feature prized possessions.

8 For a statement focal point, opt for a decorative hood.

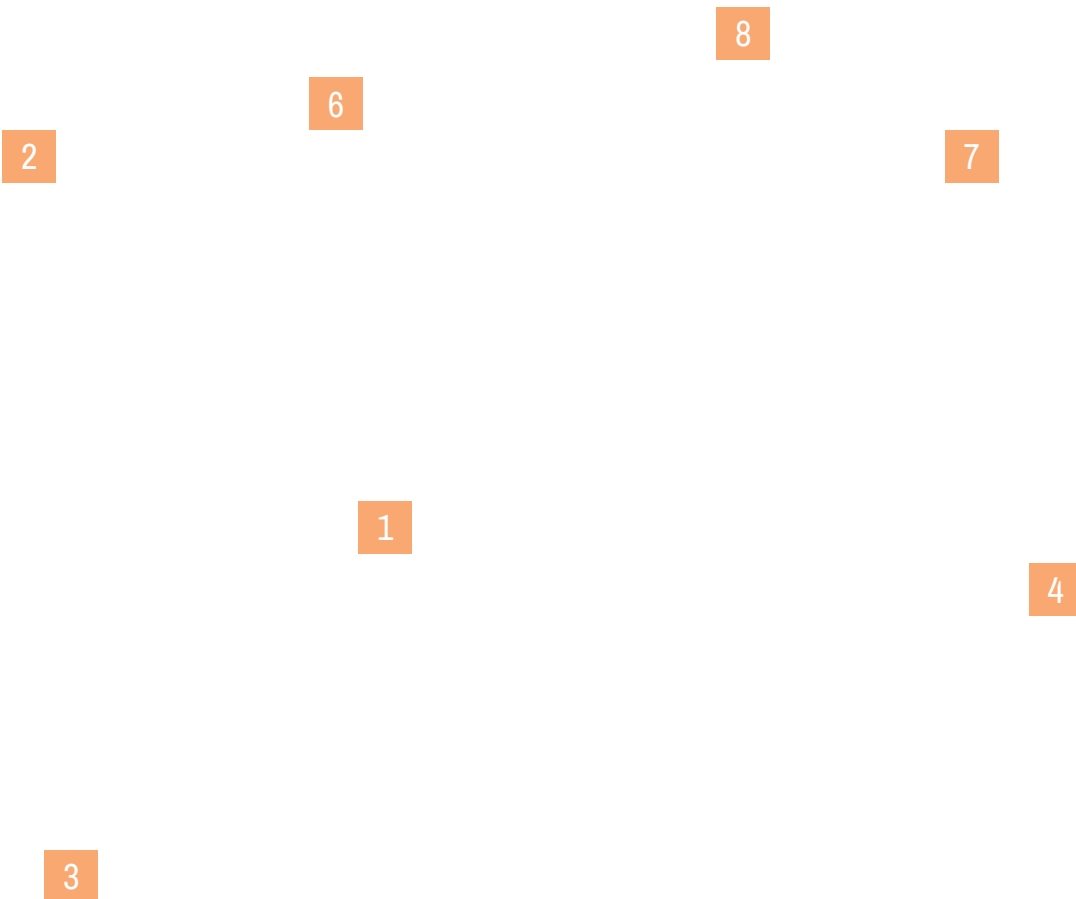

9 Staggering the heights on select cabinets brings interest to the design, elongating the room.

Exclusive Custom Quote Program

Schuler offers a Custom Quote program that provides your kitchen designer the capability to create a truly unique design. Our Custom Quote professionals are skillfully trained in the manufacturing process and work with your designer to answer questions, provide ideas and quote your custom designed cabinet.

This pet feeding station was a special request and is the result of a custom quote.

Watch how this kitchen transforms.

UNMATCHED FINISH QUALITY

Schuler's multi-step finishes are formulated for superior resistance to life's everyday mishaps. Our finishes exceed industry standards in performance testing. That means our finishes can withstand common household spills, such as coffee, ketchup, cola, vinegar and lemon juice. Get worry-free resistance to everyday spills and cleaning with Schuler's superior finishes.

CUSTOM CRAFTED

The beauty is in the details. Each Schuler cabinet is meticulously hand-crafted. From sanding for a smooth, even finish, to brush highlighting that emphasizes the natural character of the wood, to artfully applying glaze techniques and distressing collections — we're redefining what's possible with custom craftsmanship.

Having an idea of your preferences for wood characteristics, door styles, finishes and construction will take you one step closer to enjoying a beautiful new space.

MATERIAL OPTIONS

Click swatches to see the unique characteristics of each species

Maple

The smooth texture and uniform grain patterns have a visible color range of creamy white to varying shades of brown, and turns amber with age.

View Maple Doors

Rustic Maple

Features a smooth texture and closed grain pattern. Color ranges from creamy whites and light tans to almost black in knotty areas, bark pockets and mineral streaks.

View Rustic Maple Doors

Cherry

The esteemed look of cherry ranges from light pink to varying shades of brown, and deepens in color with age.

View Cherry Doors

Knotty Alder

The rustic nature of this light brown wood showcases pin knots, open knots, closed knots and mineral streaks that are embedded in uniform straight-grain patterns.

View Knotty Alder Doors

Hickory

Bold, prominent grain patterns are characteristic of hickory. Additional features include burls, pin knots, mineral streaks and small sound knots.

View Hickory Doors

Oak

Arching grain patterns are typical of the classic oak species. Natural wood colors range from light tans to dark reds and browns.

View Oak Doors

Quartersawn Oak

The unique cutting of this oak creates close-knit vertical grain patterns that display a textured and figured appearance. Quartersawn Oak ranges in color from light tan to brown.

View Quartersawn Oak Doors

Medium Density Fiberboard (MDF)

Engineered wood with a smooth surface and consistent core. When painted, MDF is durable and more resistant to warping, expansion and contraction than solid hardwoods.

Gloss Thermofoil

Gloss thermofoil is a smooth, reflective engineered material fused through a heating process to a MDF core. Available in Whitecap Gloss.

ARTISAN COLLECTIONS

For generations, skilled artisans have finished our cabinets by hand. This unmatched attention to detail brings charm to your home through the enhancement of texture, distinctive grain pattern and the high-quality hardwoods that tell their own story. We showcase that natural beauty, by hand-applying our rich, artistic finishes and sealing them with an oven-cured, protective top coat. Schuler's superior, smooth finishes are durable and strong to keep your cabinets beautiful for a lifetime.

Click images for door finish examples

Stain

Transparent stains accent the natural beauty and distinctive grain of your cabinets. Our stains are protected by an oven-cured top coat that provides a superior seal.

View all Stain Options ▶

Glaze and Highlight

Glaze is sprayed over base stain, then hand-rubbed to create a patina enhancing both color and character. Additional hand-brushed detailing creates definition for the impression of an aged piece of furniture.

View all Glaze & Highlight Options ▶

Antique Distressing Collection

Antique Distressing is a finish created by lightly distressing wood for a subtle worn appearance. Characteristics include sanded corners and profiles of doors and drawer fronts, as well as small dings and dents.

View all Antique Distressing Options ▶

Legacy Distressing Collection

Legacy Distressing is a finish created by physically distressing the wood for an aged appearance. Characteristics include sanded corners and profiles, small dings and dents, rasping, worm holes, chisel marks and knife splits. In addition, glaze cowtailing is applied.

View all Legacy Distressing Options ▶

Appaloosa Collection

Appaloosa finishes include a semi-transparent stain, Legacy Distressing and dark glaze hang-up. In addition, cowtailing and brushed glaze accents are added to enhance the depth of the finish.
